

OPEN

SEMINAR - Free Event

3rd December 09

Venue: Birmingham Chamber of Commerce,
75 Harborne Road, Birmingham, B15 3DH

Labour Market - a place free from human exploitation

West Midlands
Regional Assembly

Overview

What can the region do to bring everyone out of recession together? This will be one of the questions debated at this upcoming seminar. You will gain a deeper understanding around current statistics and predicted regional future employment trends and practices from speakers. You will have the opportunity to share your experiences with practitioners on:

- Mental health and wellbeing in the workplace
- Responsible downsizing and restructuring
- Supporting those most vulnerable in the workplace

This event is the fifth in a series of six thematic seminars being run for those who work in the field of social inclusion. It provides a unique opportunity to have your views heard and to influence policy.

Speakers/Workshop Leads

Paul Hanna – Birmingham Chamber of Commerce (chair)
Stephen Fitzgerald – Business in the Community
Roger McKenzie – UNISON
John Lee – Government Office West Midlands
Helena Duignan – West Midlands Regional Observatory

Programme Outline

9.30–9.45	Coffee and Registration
9.45–10.15	Session 1 - Introductions and Welcome
10.30–11.30	Session 2 - Morning workshops (see above)
11.30–12.00	Active Plenary
12.00–12.45	Lunch
12.45–13.45	Session three - Afternoon workshops
13.45–14.15	Active Plenary
14.15–14.45	Panel Question and Answer
15:00	Close

For further information on this seminar or the Open Project please contact Dally Panesar on 0121 245 0153 or d.panesar@wmra.gov.uk

OPEN
Labour Market - a place free from human exploitation

Co-financed by:

EUROPEAN COMMISSION
Employment, Social Affairs and Equal Opportunities DG
Social Protection and Integration Inclusion, Social Policy Aspects of Migration, Streamlining of Social Policies

In cooperation with:

